REPORTING A LOSS

Your enquiry or claim: what happens next

MyInsurer handles household insurance claims on your insurer's behalf. This is a claims assessment process, not a home emergency call-out service. We may need documents, inspections or specialist reports before deciding what is covered and the appropriate next steps. Reporting a loss does not automatically arrange contractor attendance or confirm cover. If you have separate home emergency cover, use the contact details in those documents.

If there is an immediate danger to people or property, such as a gas leak or an electrical hazard, contact the emergency services or the relevant utility provider first.

How your enquiry or claim works

When you first tell us about a loss, we record the details and may ask some questions to understand what has happened. If you decide to go ahead, we register your claim. Every claim is different, but most move through three stages.

1. Review and validation
   We gather the information needed to assess your claim. This may include photographs, videos, repair estimates, proof of ownership, reports from contractors, a surveyor visit, a loss adjuster visit or a video call. We may also check that the conditions of your policy have been met. Asking for information is a normal part of assessing a claim and does not mean a decision has been made.
2. The decision
   Once we have the information we need, we will review your claim against the terms, conditions, limits and exclusions of your policy, and explain whether it is covered, partly covered or not covered.
3. Settlement
   If all or part of your claim is covered, we will explain the settlement options available under your policy. Where a cash settlement is appropriate, we will explain the amount offered and how it has been calculated.

Who may be involved

Your insurer

Your insurer underwrites your policy and is named in your policy documents. MyInsurer handles your claim on your insurer's behalf under delegated authority. Our role is to assess your claim fairly and consistently in line with the terms, conditions, limits and exclusions of your policy.

Your claims handler

Your claims handler is your main point of contact. They will explain what information we need and keep you informed as your claim progresses.

Specialists, surveyors and loss adjusters

Depending on your claim, we may appoint a specialist or surveyor, or for larger or more complex claims a loss adjuster. They may inspect the property, confirm the cause, make recommendations or prepare a schedule of repairs, and discuss the next steps with you. What is needed, and how long it takes, depends on the type and extent of the damage.

What you can do to help

A few steps can help us assess your claim and avoid delays.

Show us what has happened. Where safe to do so, take clear photographs or a short video of the damage and the affected area before anything is repaired, moved or disposed of.

Prevent further loss or damage. Take reasonable steps, where safe, to prevent further loss or damage, for example turning off the water supply, stopping a leak or making your home secure. Your policy may require this, and damage that could reasonably have been avoided may not be covered.

Keep photographs and receipts. Keep photographs and receipts for any temporary work and for any other costs connected with your claim. Any reimbursement is subject to your policy terms and our assessment.

Contact us before permanent repairs. Please contact us before authorising permanent repairs or replacement. If permanent work is done before we have been able to assess the damage, this may affect your claim.

Keep damaged items. Keep damaged items where safe and practical. If urgent disposal is necessary for health or safety reasons, take photographs where possible and tell us what was disposed of.

Quotes. We may ask you for repair or replacement quotes. We may discuss quotes with your contractor, review the work proposed and compare costs. We will explain any adjustments and the basis of any settlement offer.

Be open and accurate. Please make sure the information you give us is complete and accurate. We may check information, invoices, quotes, reports and other evidence as part of the normal claim process.

How any settlement is worked out

If all or part of your claim is covered, we will explain how any settlement has been calculated.

Your policy is designed to put you back in the position you were in before an insured loss, subject to the terms, conditions, limits and exclusions of your policy.

Any settlement will follow your policy's repair or replacement terms, including new-for-old cover where provided. Maintenance and wear and tear are generally excluded. We will explain any applicable exclusions or deductions.

Your excess is the amount you must bear yourself under the policy. It is separate from any costs that are not covered. We will explain the applicable excess and how it affects any settlement.

If all or part of your claim is not covered

If your policy does not cover all of the damage claimed, we will explain the reason, show you the relevant part of your policy and answer your questions.

Common reasons include wear and tear, maintenance issues, policy exclusions, damage that happened gradually, pre-existing damage, or costs outside the cover your policy provides.

Supporting you and your family

If you or a family member needs extra support during your claim, please tell us. For example, we can agree a preferred way to contact you, allow more time to provide information, speak with someone you authorise, or explain things in a different way.

If something is not right

If you are unhappy with our service or a decision, please tell your handler or contact us on 0333 047 9900 or claims@myinsurer.co.uk. We will consider your concerns and explain how your complaint will be handled.
